BUTLER WILL SPEAK TODAY.

He Favors Senator Pritchard' Resolution.

LIKELY TO BE ASKED QUESTIONS.

He Will Insist That the Amendment Will Disfranchise White People.

Other Washington News.

Special to the TELEGRAM.

Washington, Feb. 6—Senator Butler, of North Carolina, will occupy the floor of the senate this afternoon after the consideration of routine business. His topic will be the resolution offered by Senator Pritchard, and which is aimed directly at the proposed amendment to the North Carolina constitution limiting suffrage in the state, and indirectly at the election laws of Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina. As Senator Butler is the representative of the populistic element in North Carolina, much interest is felt in his address upon the proposed amendment, which will be the first official utterance of the North Carolina senator upon the proposed amendment. The address of the senator will be in support of the resolution of Senator Pritchard, and he will urge among other things in his opposition to the amendment that it will disfranchise a large proportion of the white voters of the state as well as discriminating against the colored voters of North Carolina. Senator Butler gave notice in the senate several days ago of his intention to speak upon this subject, and he will take the floor about 1 o'clock, or as soon thereafter as he can secure recognition.

The debate on the proposed resolution of Senator Pritchard thus far has been all favorable to the democracy, and the strong speeches of Senators Money and Caffery will be reinforced before the debate closes by speeches by Senators Tillman and McLaurin of South Carolina, McEnery of Louisiana, and probably Sullivan of Mississippi. When Senator Butler delivers the address he is contemplating, he will doubtless be asked a number of questions by the senators from those states where the election laws are similar to those proposed in North Carolina and who know something as to how it works in their states.

Congressman Bellamy, of North Carolina, intends to push his bill for an additional clerk for the district and circuit courts at Charlotte, North Carolina. The bill is pending before the house committee on the judiciary, and Mr. Bellamy is confident that the committee will make a favorable report, as the clerk is much needed, and would be a great aid to attorneys having business before the courts at Charlotte. If a favorable report is made on the bill, as Mr. Bellamy hopes may be the case before long, he will seek an opportunity to bring it up in the house for consideration, which would require unanimous consent.

Hon. Oliver Dockery, of North Carolina, who is contesting the seat of Mr. Bellamy, is in the city, having arrived here Monday morning from the state. Mr. Dockery was seen and expressed his confidence that the report of the elections committee would be in favor of himself.

It is expected that the report of the sub-committee in the case of Pearson against Crawford will be announced in a day or so. As stated the other day, the report of the sub-committee will be a tie. The impression is gaining ground that the report of the full committee in this case will be favorable to the retention of Mr. Crawford in his seat.

The case of Wise against Young, affecting the title to the seat from the Second congressional district of Virginia, will probably be called up in the house week after next. When it is called up, it is said the democrats will raise the question of consideration against it, and they hope thus to ward off an adverse vote to Mr. Young.

Among other North Carolina people in Washington yesterday were A. C. Avery, of Morganton and R. Henderson, both of whom are stopping at the Metropolitan Hotel. They are here on personal business.

Representative Kluttz, who has been to his home on a visit since Friday, is expected to return to Washington today, and to be present in his seat when the house of representatives convenes.

Miss Rosser, of this city, has gone to Salisbury for the purpose of accepting position as nurse in one of the hospitals of that city.

Dewey's Man With the Boers.

Peter Muller, who was a gunner on Admiral Dewey's flagship Olympia, and who handled one of the guns on that famous vessel in the battle of Manila, is the man who aims and fires the terrible "Long Tom," which has done so much damage to the beseiged garrison at Ladysmith.

His brother, who lives here, has received a letter from him, in which he says that the great gun is forty feet long and that its bore is ten inches.

The artillery company in charge of the gun has a French captain, an Irish lieutenant, while the ranks are filled with men of all nations, very few of the artillerymen being Boers.

The is, he says, a large number of American naval gunners in General Joubert's army, and they are recognized as the best shots.—Memphis, Tenn., Dispatch to the Philadelphia Record.

THE NEGRO WHITE'S VENOM.

He Rises to a Question of "Personal Privilege."

Washington, Feb. 5—The negro Congressman White made another exhibition of himself in the house today in rising to a question of personal privilege to reply to an editorial in a Raleigh paper (the News & Observer). He again flaunted in the face of the people of North Carolina that white women are as immoral as negro women, and that white men are more criminal than black men of criminal assaults. Among other things, after having the editorial read, he said:

"Mr. Speaker, I desire to give that vile, slanderous publication the widest possible circulation. I desire that it shall go out through documents of this house that the world may see what the poor colored man in the southland has to undergo from a certain class. In making this statement, Mr. Speaker, it is proper that I should exhonorate a very large percentage of the white people of North Carolina, my native state. No better people live anywhere on God's green earth than some of them. But unfortunately men of the type of him who wrote that article are now in the ascendency. I desire to repudiate as slanderous and wholly untrue the utterances there attributed to me.

"I did, the other day, while my colleague (Mr Linney) was speaking, interject a remark to the effect that from the investigation which I made last summer, as stated in a paper which I read before a local organization of this city, I had found that less than fifteen per cent. of the assaults committed upon women, not in the south, but in the entire United States, were chargeable to the crime of rape. I repeat that utterance. I did not justify the commission of assaults by black men upon white women on the ground that white men did the same in regard to black women. I said that there were assaults occasionally committed upon women and that they were not all committed by black men upon white women, but were also committed by white men upon black women, as evidenced by the great number of mulattoes in the southland. I said that then; I repeat it now; and if any man here or elsewhere desires to verify the truthfulness of that statement, he has but to make a visit through the southland, where I live. I repudiate as much as any man can anyone, whether he be white brute or black brute, who commits an assault upon any woman, whether white woman or black woman. I think such a man ought to be hanged—hanged by the neck until dead; but it ought to be done by the courts, not by infuriated mobs, such as the writer of that article would incite.

"Mr. Speaker, this article is but the evidence of what we have got to contend with—an absolute perversion and slanderous misrepresentation of truth—preparing for an election to be held in August; and the world is notified that those whom the constitution of the United States, by the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments, have been enfranchised, are to be reduced once more to the condition of goods and chattels if such men as the one who edits the Raleigh paper in question can have the control of affairs in North Carolina. As I said before, I want to give the fullest publication to the utterances of this vile sheet; and I want my colleagues in this house, both democrats and republicans, with populists thrown in, to judge my character and my conduct for the last three years on this floor, and say whether or not it has conformed to the description given by this fellow who edits a Raleigh paper and pollutes the country with such literature as has been read at the desk."—Special to Morning Post.

The Young Man's First Speech.

New Yorkers have so many public dinners every winter season that good after dinner orators are in brisk demand and the more popular ones are overwhelmed with invitations. Consequently the advent of every new speaker on such occasions is closely watched to see if he gives signs of promise. The consciousness of this state of affairs is a severe handicap upon most men and adds a great deal to the difficulties, always more than ample, which beset the maker of a suitable speech for such occasions. At a recent dinner, given by a prominent club a man who is unusually young for the prominence he has won in his chosen field, rose to respond for the first time in this city to a toast. His beardless face was flushed and his manner embarrassed. In hesitating tones he began:

'Gentlemen: Before I entered this room I had an excellent speech prepared. Only God and myself knew what I was going to say. Now God alone knows." And he sat down.—New York Tribune.

TAYLOR WILL NOT TALK

Further Than That He Would Wire His Attorneys.

REPEAL GOEBEL ELECTION LAW

Said to be One of the Agreements Reached—An Adjustment Which Is Favorable to Democrats.

Louisville, Feb. 6—Shortly after midnight, the republican and democratic conferees in session at the Galt House came to an agreement, and a document was drawn up for signatures. It is said the agreement is decidedly favorable to the democrats. Governor Taylor is to withdraw the troops from state buildings, at Frankfort, and send them home. The order convening the legislature at London, Ky., is to be revoked, and the regular sessions of the general assembly are to be resumed at the state capitol without molestation.

It is believed the understanding arrived at tonight will result in an amicable settlement of the dispute between the two parties in this state and do away with the dual governments now asserting themselves.

TAYLOR WONT TALK.

Frankfort, Feb. 6—Governor Taylor, when seen regarding the early morning conference which was held in Louisville at which a compromise was affected between the democrats and republicans, refused to say anything except that he would wire his attorneys.

REPEAL ELECTION LAW.

Louisville, Feb. 6—At last night's conference the democrats conceded the repeal of the Goebel election law. The fate of the minor state officials rests with the state election board.

READY TO MEET AT LONDON.

London, Ky., Feb. 6—Eight more republican legislators came in this morning, making forty-four. They were ready to meet in the old Seminary at noon and then adjourn out of respect to the memory of Governor Goebel.

LATER.

Frankfort, Feb 6—Taylor is conferring with his lawyer, and it is believed that he will agree to the Louisville compromise. While refusing to discuss the Louisville conference, until officially advised, Taylor said the passage of an honest election law was all that be asked and that no personal ambition of his would stand in the way of securing it.

HAS BULLER CROSSED

He Seems to be "Laying Low and Saying Nothing.

By Cable to the TELEGRAM

London, Feb. 6—The impression that General Buller's forces are fighting does not die out in spite of the continuous assertions that the war office has no news to confirm that belief. From Cape Town under date of today comes the statement that up to this morning nothing has been heard concerning General Buller's alleged crossing the Tugula river, while Roberts reports no change in the situation.

WILL RETURN THE GOLD.

Durban, Feb. 6—The prize court here has decided to return the twenty-five thousand pounds in gold to the Transvaal National Bank, which was seized on the steamship Avondale Castle in October.

The war office announces this morning that there is no change in the situation in South Africa.

FRENCH SHOOTS SOME.

Rensburg, Feb. 6—General French is holding in check a large force of Boers at Colesburg. This morning the new Boer Laager, near Slingersfontein, where the Boers were placing new artillery was shelled by lyddite. The effect of the shelling was to spoil all the work that had been accomplished and compel a general retirement of the Boers.

New Charges Against Ewart.

Washington, Feb 5—The senate judiciary committee, investigating the charges against Judge Ewart, of North Carolina met today but postponed action until next Monday. The evidence of Judge Jones, of Asheville, was submitted Saturday, that Judge Ewart had appointed Mr. Smathers receiver of the Western North Carolina Bank when he (Judge Ewart) was indebted to Smathers for loaned money, and also that Judge Ewart had appointed his own son deputy clerk or continued him in the position. Both of these are new charges and both, it is stated, are in direct violation of the United States statutes.

The committee in the course of its meeting decided not to send for any other witnesses or in any way to reopen the case.

Senator Butler still insists that Ewart will be defeated, while Pritchard does not seem to be so hopeful of of success. Judge Ewart is still in Washington.

The Molineux Trial.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

New York, Feb. 6—The defense in the Molineux trial this morning rested its case without calling any witnesses. The prosecution is summing up.

Goebel's Body at Covington

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Covington, Feb. 6—Goebel's body arrived here this morning. Among the funeral party are the dead governor's two brothers, their sister and a brother-in-law of Justus Gobeel.

FINE FUSION SCHEME.

Populists May Nominate Allen of Nebraska.

Lincoln, Feb. 5—As a possible solution of the problem that now confronts the populist party, it has been suggested that Senator Allen be named as the populist nominee for president, with the understanding that he is to be withdrawn afterwards in favor of Bryan. Nebraska populists who favor fusion are anticipating trouble in the selection of nominess for the presidential ticket, and this plan may be resorted to as a means of defeating the middle of-the-road element. J. H. Edmiston, of this city, has been assured that at least 150 members of the populist national committee will attend the meeting to be held here February 19, and while it is generally believed that the combined strength of the middle-of the-roaders will amount to a great deal when it comes to deciding upon the place.

It is not at all certain that the fusionists, who favor nominating Bryan and demanding in exchange the vice presidency, will be in the majority. If they are the convention will probably be closely combined with that of the democrats, but if the middle-of-the roaders predominate, the convention will be held a week or two earlier. The scheme proposed for defeating the opponents of fusion is to have Allen nominated, with the national committee holding power to fill any vacancy that might occur on the ticket, so that upon the withdrawal of Allen the name of Bryan might be substituted. It is also asserted that by pursuing this plan there would be a possibility of having Allen nominated for vice-president by the democrats.

CRAWFORD'S DOOM SEALED.

Election Committee Reports In Favor of Seating Pearson.

Washington, Feb. 5—In the house the election committee having the case of Pearson vs. Crawford under consideration reported today in favor of seating Pearson by a vote of five to three, one republican—Driscoll—who refused to sign either report, being absent. The report of the majority elects Pearson by 300 majority. To accomplish this the entire vote of Asheville, South Waynesville, Black Mountain and Marble are thrown out These places give Crawford about 600 majority. Asheville is thrown out because a negro named Harrison was arrested the night before the election. The majority report quotes Crawford's own attorney before the committee, Mr. Busbee, as admitting that the democrats had determined to carry North Carolina at all hazards.

The committee's decision is infamously partisan and old democratic members say it has not the slightest foundation in law or fact.

Crawford refuses to talk. Pearson is elated. The house will probably adopt the report.

CAN'T PLACE SKINNER.

He Is Wiley—Bellamy's Maiden Speech in Congress.

Washington, Feb. 5—Former Congressman Skinner, who has been here for a week or so has returned home Mr. Skinner is as shy of reporters as most people are supposed to be of rattlesnakes. Some time ago it was understood that Mr. Skinner was booked for a federal appointment outside the state of North Carolina; but time has worn on and still he is kept on the tenderhoos. It is now intimated that Mr. Skinner is not quite certain where he stands, whether he is republican enough to satisfy his republican backers for a position or whether he is not shying over to the white people on the present political subjects now paramount in the state. Mr. Skinner, although he circulated freely while here among the North Carolina democrats, succeeded in keeping his own counsel, and none are wiser as to his position now than when he came. While here he took lunch with Mr. Small who defeated him in the last campaign.

Mr. Kitchin, as a member of the house committee on naval affairs is off with his committee visiting shipbuilding and steel-plants in Philadelphia, Pittsburg and other cities.

Last Friday Mr. Bellamy made an interesting speech in the house in behalf of an appropriation to educate the Croatan Indians of North Carolina. The speech abounded in historical data, was well received and is perhaps the most complete history of this strange and poetic people ever presented. It was Mr. Bellamy's maiden effort.

Mr. Bellamy has introduced in the house a bill to authorize Frank Hitch to construct and maintain a bridge across Fishing Creek within the boundary lines of Edgecombe county, North Carolina.—Special to Morning Post.

SERGEANT KILLED IN AN ATTACK.

Patrol Party Suddenly Disappear and Supposed They Were Captured. Searching Party Ambushed.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Manila, Feb. 6—The insurgents attacked five battalions of Fort First near Niac, in which a major and captain were wounded and one sergeant was killed. The details of the engagement are lacking.

Ships arriving from Legaspie report that the insurgent general Pana has concentrated a large force about the upper part of the town and made a sharp night attack on Major Shipton's battalion of the Forty-seventh, which occupied a large convent as a fort.

A corporal and four men, while patrolling the railroad near Mabacalat, recently disappeared, and it is supposed they were captured. A searching party looking for them was ambushed and a corporal was killed.

WHO KILLED GOEBEL?

Letter From a Woman Who Claims She Did It.

Who killed Goebel?

Just now nobody knows.

Maybe we will never know. More likely the secret will some time or other be revealed.

In the meantime there will be plenty of people who will claim to have committed the crime.

Already there are two—one in Frankfort and one in Raleigh. The Frankfort fellow is crazy and in jail. The Caleigh murderer claims to be a woman and is at large.

She writes to the News and Observer, giving the details of the homicide and the causes that led up to it. The letter was mailed in the post office here yesterday at 11 o'clock, though it bears date of February 3rd. It is written in a feminine hand on note paper, and is addressed to the editor of the News and Observer.

The writer begins by saying that she "is in the act of leaving our little city after several days' rest." She then takes the editor to task over an editorial on "The Tap-Root of Anarchy" which appeared in this paper of February 1st, then adds that he may be surprised "to learn some of the real facts concerning this tragedy."

With this by way of introduction, the letter then proceeded as follows.

"As I now feel safe I will inform you that no republican had anything to do with this murder of Goebel, further than to furnish me with an opportunity to take revenge on him for the murder of my dear friend and relative.

"For months I have been on his track, as the law would not punish him for his cowardly villiany, I resolved to have revenge, and for months clad in male attire and armed with several good weapons, I have been after him, but no chance ever presented itself without the danger of immediate arrest until the present embroglio. It was then or never, so I sought to get a pull at him, but alas I fear my bullet was not a fatal one. But I must leave the United States or keep concealed until I do get him; for finish him I will, if we both live.

It is doubtful if you will publish this, but if you have the honesty to do so, it may exhonerate Taylor, Bradley or any of their friends from guilt of the matter. I will write the Louisville Courier Journal the facts also. If he has the honesty of a true man, he will also exhonorate the innocent.

"I shot Goebel for murdering my dear friend and relative. I could find no man brave enough to revenge his blood, so I donned the breeches and traveled over a thousand miles first and last in order to land a bullet through him. I have no compunctions of conscience—Goebel should have been hanged, but he was screened by dirty political boot blacks, as he now is. He is no democrat, he is a cold blooded free booter and murderer, and he must die if I can have another chance at him.

"Now put your detectives on my track, if you can find a track, but I have no fear of them, even though we may be on the same boat or ship. Now I leave you to your own cogitation to see if you can find anything else to lay at the door of the republicans."—News and Observer.

Judge Hoke, who is holding the special term of Guilford superior court, is one of the clearest headed judges in the state. He is a hustler, too, in the dispatch of business.

The present editor of the Telegram is deeply grateful to his brethren of the press throughout the state for kind expressions, some of which have been reproduced in this paper. We copy one more:

Mr. R. M. Phillips retires from the editorship of the Greensboro Evening Telegram under the new management, but the Journal is gratified that he will take a place on its staff. Mr. Phillips has worked hard for the Telegram, and made it a good paper. He is a clever writer writer and a wholesouled and big-hearted gentleman.—Winston Journal.

In addition to the ratification of the constitutional amendment there is one other special duty the white people of North Carolina owe themselves, and that is to see that George White, the negro from the second district, never occupies another seat in congress. He is now the only colored man in congress, and some of his recent utterances place him alongside of Manley, the wretch who was run out of Wilmington. It is such talk as that which kindles the fires in the bosoms of white men and prompts a renewed determination that the negro as a political factor must go.

THE LATE GOV. GOEBEL.

With all the faults attributed to him, he late William E. Goebel, who for a few days was governor of Kentucky, was a man of ability, and a nerve which people can but admire. The Charlotte Observer copies an editorial from the Greenville, S. C., News and commences as follows:

Beginning a closely analytic editorial, the Greenville, S C. News says: there is the pathos of a wasted life in the fate of Goebel, of Kentucky. He seems to have begun with the determination to be rich and a power in politics and to have sacrificed entirely to his great ambitions all the pleasures valued by most men. Apparently he had no domestic or social life no small vices and no conscience—cold, relentless, fearless, making his way to his ambitions at the cost of everything by the power of nerve and intellect and clear headed scheming He appears to have hesitated at nothing to beat down and remove obstacles—a Napoleon in a small way. He does not seem to have been subject even to the common human infirmity of vanity. His life was all purpose—and it was not a very high purpose and he was not scrupulous in his methods. His force of character was enormous. It is a pity it was not devoted to better ends."

These are not kind words to write of a dead man, and yet they are tolerably true. Mr. Goebel was a remarkable man. The weakest candidate of three for the democratic nomination for governor of his state, he forced himself upon an unwilling convention and carried off its honors. He was a masterful intellect, a great lawyer and a great politician, and as our Greenville contempory suggests, free from those vices, which so often fetter greatness. There was a good deal in his career and character that reminded one of David B. Hill—himself an able lawyer, an abler politician, a bachelor and a man without a bad habit. Of the two, Governor Hill is no doubt the better man—he has all of Goebel's vaulting ambition, but more scruples, for, with all his reputation for sharpness, there is never a charge of disreputable methods employed by himor of any act, personal or public, that would not stand the sunshine or the closest scrutiny of the world.

One wonders if it can be that the habits of thought, the singleness of purpose and directness of these two men, their consecration to their ambitions and their ideals, has any relation to the fact that they are unmarried men? The greatest man that ever lived has said that "he that hath wife and children hath given hostages to fortune, for they are impediments to great enterprises, either of virtue or mischief. Certainly," he continues, "the best works, and of greatest merit for the public, have proceeded from the unmarried or childless men, which both in affection and means havemarried and endowed." We are not sure that this quotation is entirely apropos, for this discussion is of Mr. Goebel, and he has not done a great deal for the world in which he lived, but as there was something in him which suggests Governor Hill, so there is in both of them something that reminds one of this quotation from Bacon.

HUMAN SACRIFICES.

MODERN RELIGIOUS FANATICS WHO BELIEVE IN THEM.

Many Peculiar Sects In the Old World, Particularly In Russia, Whose Members Kill and Crucify That Salvation May Be Attained.

That human sacrifices have been made even in the nineteenth century, and by professing Christians, too, is brought out by The American Journal of Sociology in a striking article:

The Convulsionists, a sect existing in Paris about 1760, were wont to crucify members of their order, in emulation of the crucifixion of the Saviour, in the belief that the souls of the surviving members would be saved by the sacrifices of their fellows. In 1817 the "Paschelians," an Austrian sect, murdered a man, his wife and daughter under the delusion that the trio, who refused to go with the fanatics, were possessed of the devil. On the following day they crucified one of their own number, a girl of 19 years, who had suffered herself for the death, in imitation of the death of the Saviour, in order to save the souls of her fellow believers.

In 1823 the leader of a Pietistic circle in Switzerland, after having dispatched her sister, who gave her life as a means of saving the souls of her relatives, was crucified by her followers at her own command in order that she might die, rise again after three days and restore to life the sister she had slain. In 1865 two mothers, adherents of the "Holy Men," slew their sick children, believing them to be victims of demoniacal possession. In 1875 a Hungarian miller, belonging to the "Nazarenes," killed his son as an offering for his own sins after the fashion of Abraham. In 1870, in Irkutsk, Russia, one of the "Schismatics" convinced himself by prayer and fasting and much Scripture reading that to save his soul he must be crucified. Accordingly he attempted self crucifixion and succeeded so far as the circumstances of the case would permit.

In 1830, in the government of Perm, Russia, a peasant killed his child as an offering for sin and buried the body in an ant hill. Likewise, in the government of Vladimir, another peasant killed both his children in due Abrahamic form, and while the babies bled under the father's knife the devout mother celebrated the service by reading aloud selected portions of the twenty-second chapter of Genesis. In 1854, in the government of Tambov, Russia, a peasant, convinced that to save his soul a man must have a sin to repent of, killed a neighbor with an ax in order to satisfy this highly imperative condition.

It is a part of the creed of the "Wanderers," a Russian sect, that anti-Christ rules in high places there and that accordingly good men must have naught to do with governmental affairs of any sort. In conformity with this belief a man murdered in various ingenious ways 25 men, women and children, including his own wife and babies, in order to free them from the danger of losing their souls by suffering the contaminating contact of the government census taker. This occurred in 1897.

The "Deniers," another quite interesting Russian sect, believe that evil taints all earthly good and that the only escape is death. In 1825 60 of these men, strong in the faith, after having murdered their wives and children, permitted themselves to be put to death, one by one, by their leaders. The "Scourgers," who also form a widespread and influential sect in Russia, in obedience to the behests of their "saviors," are in the habit of indulging in human sacrifices, cannibalistic feasts, erotic dances and other lewd procedures as an extremely efficacious method of keeping the hand of evil from off their immortal souls. So the "Muckers" of Konigsberg and the celebrants of the black mass in Paris afford further examples of the use of a ritual of erotism, coupled with a practice of the most abandoned and obscene behavior, to promote the eternal welfare of the soul.

She Had Read About It.

One day a boy was missing from a schoolroom in one of the up town public school buildings. The teacher looked around and failed to see the familiar face.

"Does any pupil know why Tommy McGregor isn't in school today?" she inquired.

There was no answer.

The teacher repeated the query.

Then a little girl slowly lifted her hand.

"Please, ma'am," she said, "I know."

"And why does he stay away, Mary?"

"Please, ma'am, it's 'cause he's got 'measles inside.'"

Mary had read the contagious disease card that was tacked on the front of the house.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

SALT RHEUM CURED BY
Johnston's Sarsaparilla
QUART BOTTLES.
JUST SEEN IN TIME.

Slight Skin Eruptions are a Warning of Something More Serious to Come. The Only Safe Way is to Heed the Warning. Johnston's Sarsaparilla is the Most Powerful Blood Purifier Known.

Nature, in her efforts to correct mistakes, which mistakes have come from careless living, or it may be from ancestors, shoots out pimples, blotches and other imperfections on the skin, as a warning that more serious troubles (perhaps tumors, cancers, erysipelas or pulmonary diseases) are certain to follow if you neglect to heed the warning and correct the mistakes.

Many a lingering, painful disease and many an early death has been avoided simply because these notes of warning have been heeded and the blood kept pure by a right use of JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA.

Miss Abbie J. Rande, of Marshall, Mich., writes:

"I was cured of a bad humor after suffering with it for five years. The doctors and my friends said it was salt rheum. It came out on my head, neck and ears, and then on my whole body. I was perfectly raw with it. What I suffered during those five years, is no use telling. Nobody would believe me if I did. I tried every medicine that was advertised to cure it. I spent money enough to buy a house. I heard JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA highly praised. I tried a bottle of it. I began to improve right away, and when I had finished the third bottle I was completely cured. I have never had a touch of it since. I never got any thing to do me the least good till I tried JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA. I would heartily advise all who are suffering from humors or skin disease of any kind to try it at once. I had also a good deal of stomach trouble, and was run down and miserable, but JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA made me all right."

The blood is your life and if you keep it pure and strong you can positively resist disease or face contagion fearlessly. JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA never fails. It is for sale by all druggists, in full quart bottles at only one dollar each

FACTS ABOUT SARDINES.

The Greater Part of This Country's Consumption Now Packed Here.

Formerly the sardines consumed in this country were all imported from France. Now about three-quarters of the sardines eaten in the United States are put up here, the chief center of the sardine industry in the United States being the eastern coast of Maine, though some sardines are now put up on the coast of California. The packing of sardines in this country was begun about 1886.

Thousands of people now find employment in one part and another of the work in catching fish, in making cans and in canning and packing and marketing and so on.

Sardines are put up in greater variety than formely, there being nowadays sardines packed in tomato sauce, sardines in mustard, spiced sardines and so on, but the great bulk of sardines, both imported and domestic, are still put up in oil. Sardines are put up also in a greater variety of packages than formerly, there being, for example, various sizes and shapes of oval tins, and some French sardines are imported in glass, but as the great bulk of all sardines are still put up in oil, so the great bulk of them are still put up in the familiar flat boxes, the great majority of these being of the sizes known as halves and quarters and far the greater number of these being in quarters. Sardines are packed 100 tins in a case, and the consumption of sardines in this country is roughly estimated at from 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 cases annually.

Like canned goods of every description, sardines are cheaper now than they formerly were, and American sardines are sold for less than the imported. American sardines are now exported from this country to the West Indies and to South America.—New York Sun.

CHOCOLATE FIENDS.

There Are Those Who Become Slaves to This Nerve Soothing Food.

"The manufacture of chocolate," said J. R. Anso of Brazil, "is a great industry. Of all the chocolate beans imported into the United States two-thirds go to one firm in Boston, and the other third is distributed among the other manufacturers. The chocolates sold are of various grades. The Caracas chocolate is supposed to be the best.

"If you take the various grades, technically known as the Caracas, the French, the German and so on, and take a piece of each and place them in a pan of water and allow them to dissolve, any expert will tell you which is the best chocolate. The better grades will leave no sediment. The others will. This is explained by the fact that in the cheaper grades the shell is ground up and used as a 'filler.' The lighter the chocolate the better the grade. The cheaper grades are darkowing to the ground up shell.

"It is a queer thing about chocolate consumption. There are chocolate fiends, just as there are opium fiends, tobacco slaves and liquor slaves. I cannot tell you why it is, but if people begin to eat chocolate the habit grows upon them. I don't think any amount of chocolate hurts any person. Of course the cheaper grades of chocolate have a large percentage of sugar in them, and sugar is to a certain extent injurious, but for the chocolate itself I don't think any one eats enough to hurt him materially. In contradistinction to the exhilaration of alcoholic drinks chocolate seems to be a soother. Persons who are nervous and irritable find it a food that in a way calms and soothes and satisfies them. It is queer, but it is the truth. The consumption of chocolate is increasing enormously in the United States."—New York Tribune.

Artificial Diamonds.

It is well known that in the manufacture of carbon steel microscopic diamonds are formed, and the curious fact is stated by The Scientific Press that from the examination of a number of steels from a variety of processes identical results were given. A piece weighing 300 grams was cut from a lump of steel and treated with nitric acid, the insoluble residue collected being mainly graphic carbon. After being washed with water it was boiled three times with fuming nitric acid, which partially dissolved the residue, hydrofluoric acid and then fuming sulphuric being used, there then remaining nothing but graphite, which, after being washed, was melted with chlorate of potash. The insoluble residue obtained fell to the bottom of a vessel filled with iodide of methylene, the little transparent octahedrons visible through a microscope, which burned on a sheet of platinum without any ash, being the diamonds.

The Thistle of Scotland.

Once upon a time many hundred years ago the Danes made war upon the Scots and invaded their country. One dark night, as they were marching upon an encampment of sleeping Scots, one of their number trod upon a thistle. The pain was so sudden and intense that the man gave a loud cry. This awakened the slumbering Scots, who sprang to arms and defeated the assailants. In gratitude for the deliverance the Scots made the thistle their national emblem.—Journal of Education.

THE LUCK OF A HOUSE

A SUPERSTITION WHICH SEEMS TO BE BUILT ON FACT.

Few Persons Who Erect Costly Mansions For Their Own Use Ever Live to Occupy Them—If Not Death Then Disaster Bars the Doors.

An instance has recently occurred of a well known man refusing for superstitious reasons to live in a beautiful house he had built until some one else, a perfect stranger, had occupied it for some little time.

If ever there has been a superstition that appears justified by solid fact and precedent, it is that which prevails about the building of a house. Few who erect costly mansions for their own use ever live to occupy them. An ill fate seems to bar the doors of these abodes upon which has been lavished so much thought and money and hope. Sometimes it is death and sometimes it is ruin that overtakes the owner.

So widespread and so powerful is this strange superstition that one finds even an intellectual man like Lord Salisbury insisting on leasing to strangers for several months the beautiful home which he has had erected for himself at Beaulieu, on the Riviera, before he will consent to occupy it himself or to permit any member of his family to cross its threshold.

Lord Salisbury, however, has only to look round him in London to find ample grounds for the adoption of such extraordinary and at first sight unnecessary precautions. The completion of Lord Revelstoke's palace in Charles street coincided with the bankruptcy of the great firm of Baring Bros., of which he was the principal, and it has remained ever since an exquisite monument to the futility of human hopes and ambition.

Mr. Sanford had hardly finished rebuilding the exterior of his magnificent mansion in Carlton House terrace when the collapse of Argentine securities occurred, involving him in ruin and compelling him to dispose of it to Mrs. Mackay, of "Bonanza" fame.

The Marquis de Santurce, having purchased the neighboring house from Lady Granville, spent a fortune upon the reconstruction and adornment of the interior. But before the work was completed he in turn was overtaken by the terrible disaster which befell the well known Anglo-Spanish banking house of Murrieta, of which he was the chief director, and he had no alternative but to sell the house to Mr. W. W Astor.

The downfall of Hudson, the railway king, occurred at the same time as the completion of the great house he was having built for himself at the Albert gate entrance to Hyde park, while in the same manner Baron Albert Grant witnessed the piecemeal sale of the gorgeous palace he had erected at Kensington, but was never destined to occupy.

This is why there are, comparatively, so few new mansions of a palatial character either in London or the country. Persons possessed of adequate means and in need of either a town or country residence prefer as a rule to purchase homes that have been lived in to building new ones. If they do any building at all they, in general, cause it to take the form of additions to or alterations of edifices no longer new.

Even then the owners endeavor to safeguard themselves from the possibility of danger by letting their residences for the express purpose, as they say in France, of "wiping the dust from off the plastered walls."

Nowhere is this superstition more powerful than in Bavaria, where many of the most picturesque spots, especially in the mountainous districts, are adorned with fairylike palaces. None of them has been entirely completed, for insanity and violent death overtook the brilliant and accomplished King Ludwig, who conceived their design, but unfortunately perished before their completion.

Nor even have the builders of many of the splendid structures that adorn the French metropolis been more fortunate. Thus M. Jules Grevy had scarcely completed the construction of his lordly mansion in the Avenue d'Iena when the scandalous behavior of his son-in-law, Daniel Wilson, overwhelmed him with disgrace and compelled him to resign the presidency of the republic amid a perfect hurricane of public obloquy.

The Empress Eugenie's only sister, the late Duchess of Alba, had not occupied the lovely palace erected for her in the Champs Elysees more than a few months before she was seized with a sudden illness and died there in a manner so mysterious as to give rise to rumors of foul play. The building was subsequently pulled down.

Another equally unlucky house is that now owned by the widow of the late Baron Hirsch. Situated at the corner of the Rue de l'Elysee and of the Avenue Gabriel, it was erected by the Duc de Mouchy. He had not occupied the house more than a few weeks before it was the scene of a daring burglary that covered its noble owner with ridicule. Two months after, his daughter died there so suddenly and under such strange circumstances that the duchess would not consent to remain longer in such an ill omened house.—London Mail.

Birds That Play.

Some birds, like all children, like to play and Australia and New Guinea produce the "bower bird," which builds regular playhouses. These houses are not a part of their nests, but are constructed usually in the shape of covered archways of little boughs two or three feet long, 18 inches high and about as wide. They use these houses simply for their games, as if they were clubhouses. Generally these playhouses are decorated with bright colored shells and feathers, just as children decorate their playhouses.

THE SENSE OF TASTE.

IT SHOULD BE THE BEST GUIDE TO THE FOOD WE NEED.

If Not Perverted, It Will Select Those Substances For Which the Body is Suffering—We Use Entirely Too Much Salt.

The function of the taste doubtless sustains a much more important relation to digestion than has been generally accorded to it, says Dr. Kellogg. Food to be digested must be appetizing. Food which nauseates does not stimulate the secretion of the fluid necessary to digest it either in the mouth or the stomach. The sense of taste may be regarded as a sort of regulation. Hence it is an important property of food that the sense of taste may be stimulated and that it may have an opportunity to exercise its selective and controlling functions.

When one has eaten a sufficient amount of simple, wholesome food, the sense of taste informs him of the fact by declining to receive more. A perfect rule for mastication would be to chew each morsel of food until there is left only a tasteless remnant. It is useless to swallow such a residue, as it can have no nutritive value. When food is taken in this way, the sense of taste has an opportunity to say "enough" before too much has been swallowed and thus affords a perfect means of adapting the amount of food taken to the needs of the body.

A careful study of this suggestion will also show that the sense of taste, if allowed to act in a normal way, will select those substances of which the body is in great need. For example, if the blood is impoverished and needs an extra supply of nitrogenous food there will be a craving for such foods as nuts, legumes and possibly eggs and milk or some other substance containing nitrogen.

A curious analogy to this function is found in some insectivorous plants, which, as has been shown by recent experiments, refuse to capture insects or pay attention to fragments of meat placed within their grasp except when the soil upon which they grow is lacking in nitrogenous elements. By supplying a fertilizer rich in nitrogen these so called carnivorous plants cease to be carnivorous and behave wholly like other plants. The same principle applies to the use of fat making substances, such as starchy and oleaginous foods, such as nuts and cereals. The writer has frequently observed in thin patients a craving for fats, which disappeared entirely after the patient had made a gain of 20 or 30 pounds.

The taste was no doubt intended by the Creator to be a perfect guide to the quantity and quality of food to be taken and not simply a means of gustatory pleasure. Unfortunately it has been terribly debauched and perverted from its normal function. Men and women treat the palate as the pianist treats his instrument, touching it in various ways simply for the purpose of provoking pleasurable sensations, with no regard whatever for the possible needs of the body or the possible damage which may be caused. The sense of taste, thus wrongly educated, becomes perverted, and its indications become confused. Abnormal cravings are developed, which demand satisfaction in the use of tea, coffee, wine and other intoxicants, mustard, pepper and other condiments, large quantities of salt, pickles and rich and savory dishes of various sorts, together with sweets, ices and tidbits of all kinds. The sense of taste has been dethroned from its high position as governor of nutrition and has come to be merely the servant of a capricious and insatiable desire for an illegitimate sensation, a purely selfish animal pleasure. This is gluttony, pure and simple, and is the apt tutor and hail companion of alcoholic intemperance.

The free use of common salt must likewise be placed among serious dietetic errors. Professor Bunge of Basel, the leading physiological chemist of the world, with many others, has shown that the so called necessity for the alimentary use of salt rests upon a very uncertain and equivocal, if not erroneous, basis and that at most salt can be used without injury only in very minute quantities. The quantity designated by Professor Bunge as within the limits of possible harmlessness is about 15 grains a day, or probably less than one-fourth of the amount usually consumed. The free use of salt leads to thirst and copious drinking in connection with meals.

Gum chewing, tobacco chewing, the use of tobacco in any form, must be condemned as harmful to the digestion through exhausting the function of the salivary glands, so that when required to maintain constant activity the saliva secreted by the glands has very little value as a digestive agent. The glands, as well as the muscles and other parts of the body, require rest in which to store up the elements necessary for their proper function.—Good Health.

His Capacity Had Limits.

An old farmer who was in the habit of eating what was set before him, asking no questions, dropped into a Memphis cafe for dinner. The waiter gave him the menu card and explained to the old gentleman that it was the list of dishes the cafe served for dinner that day. Accordingly he began at the top of the bill of fare and ordered each thing in turn until he had covered about one-third of it. The prospect of what was still before him was too overpowering, yet there were some things at the end that he wanted to try. He called the waiter and, confidently marking off the spaces on the card with his index finger, said:

"Look here, I've et from thar to thar. Can I skip from that to thar and eat on to the bottom?"—Memphis Scimitar.

An Editor's Life Saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

During the early part of October, 1896, I contracted a bad cold, which settled on my lungs and was neglected until I feared that consumption had appeared in an incipient state. I was constantly coughing and trying to expel something which I could not. I became alarmed and after giving the local doctor a trial bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the result was immediate improvement, and after I had used three bottles my lungs were restored to their healthy state.—B. S. Edwards, publisher of the Review, Wyant, Ill. For sale by C. E. Holton, druggist.

Without exception it is the fin st remedy on the market, and nothing would induce me to be without it. Jno. F. For the Babies.

There is no better medicine for the babies than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Its pleasant taste and prompt and effectual cures make it a favorite with mothers and small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds, preventing pneumonia or other serious consequences. It also cures croup and has been used in tens of thousands of cases without a single failure so far as we have been able to learn. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. In cases of whooping cough it liquefies the tough mucous, making it easier to expectorate, and lessens the severity and frequency of the paroxysms of coughing, thus depriving that disease of all dangerous consequences. The Best Medicine For Rheumatism

"I think I would go crazy with pain were it not for Chamberlain's Pain Balm," writes Mr. W. H. Stapleton, Hermanie, Pa. "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for several years and have tried remedies without number, but Pain Balm is the best medicine I have got hold of." One application relieves the pain. Little Pimples Turn to Cancer.

Cancer often results from an impurity in the blood, inherited from generations back. Few people are entirely free from some taint in the blood, and it is impossible to tell when it will break out in the form of dreaded Cancer. What has appeared to be a mere pimple or scratch has developed into the most malignant Cancer.

"I had a severe Cancer which was at first only a few blotches, that I thought would soon pass away. I was treated by several able physicians, but in spite of their efforts the Cancer spread until my condition became alarming. After many months of treatment and growing steadily worse, I decided to try S. S. S. which was so strongly recommended. The first bottle produced an improvement. I continued the medicine, and in four months the last little scab dropped off. Ten years have elapsed, and not a sign of the disease has returned."
R. F. WILLIAMS,
Gillsburg, Miss.

It is dangerous to experiment with Cancer. The disease is beyond the skill of physicians. S. S. S. is the only cure, because it is the only remedy which goes deep enough to reach Cancer.

WINE OF CARDUI

A LITTLE DOES MUCH.

BOONE, IOWA, Dec. 14.

No tongue can tell what I have endured in the past ten years with my monthly sickness. While suffering untold agony, a friend called and recommended Wine of Cardui. I sent for a bottle, and Oh! what relief. After the first dose I began to feel better and have had no pain since.
MRS. GRACE LAMPHERE.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

Wine of Cardui not only cures but it acts AT ONCE. Here is a case of ten years' standing, and yet one single dose made the sufferer feel better, and stopped the pain. The Wine goes straight to the seat of the trouble. It acts directly upon the menstrual and genital organs. Its action is not violent, and it does not force a result. It simply gives Nature that little assistance that the sufferer's system lacks. A single disorder in the feminine organs spreads many disorders all over the body, and when the Wine cures the source, all the other ills vanish as a matter of course. A woman can be her own physician and cure herself at home. Local examinations are largely things of the past—the obnoxious custom is no longer necessary. Wine of Cardui is the only perfectly safe and sure vegetable Wine made to-day for the cure of "female troubles".

"After doctors failed to cure me of pneumonia I used One Minute Cough Cure and three bottles of it cured me. It is also the best remedy on earth for whooping cough. It cured my grandchildren of the worst cases," writes Jno Berry, Loganton, Pa. It is the only harmless remedy that gives immediate results. Cures coughs, colds, croup and throat and lung troubles. It prevents consumption. Children always like it. Mothers endorse it. Howard Gardner.

It's peculiar that street car passengers are shocked most when the current is shut off.

J. I. Bevry, Logan ton, Pa., writes I am willing to take my oath I that was cured of pneumonia entirely by the use of One Minute Cough Cure entirely after doctors failed. It also cured my children of whooping cough." Quickly relieves and cures coughs, colds, croup, grippe and throat and lung troubles. Children all like it. Mothers endorse it. Howard Gardner.

The farcical part of Durham's quarantine against Greensboro is shown by the fact that Durham's gates are wide open to people from other places, notably Portsmouth, where there is ten times as much smallpox as there is in Greensboro, and from one to four deaths per day, according to reports.

Enjoyed by All.

State Lecturer Jordan, under the auspices of the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias, is doing splendid service among the subordinate lodges. He visited Greensboro Lodge No. 80 last night and made an interesting talk, explaining the signs, secret work, etc., in a manner that was instructive and appreciated by all the members present. Mr. Jordan is an ardent Pythian and is well posted.

SOME SLIGHT CHANGES.

The Depot Sheds When Finished Will Be Satisfactory.

Architect Frank P. Milburn, of Charlotte, was here yesterday figuring on some minor changes which are to be made in the sheds at the Southern Railway station in this city. The changes will be only slight, but will afford more protection to the employees, and the public will be well pleased with the sheds when completed.

The sheds at present are not as sightly as they will be when completed. Three coats of paint will cover up a multitude of sin and unsightly places. The railroad people, we take it, know about what they are doing and will do all they can for the convenience of the public. Wait until the sheds are finished.

Notice.

You will please call and pay your city taxes, as the city has been at a heavy expense for the last two weeks and have no funds to meet the demands on the treasurer to pay said expenses.

NEW LUMBER CONCERN.

Mr. J. R. Mendenhall Arranging to Put in a Plant.

The oldest lumber dealer in the city, in point of continuous service, is Mr J. R. Mendenhall, who has been in the business here nearly nineteen years. He recently sold his interest in the Greensboro Sash and Blind Co.

The Telegram is today informed, and receives the information with pleasure, that Mr. Mendenhall will re-establish himself here in the lumber business. He has leased the site of the old spoke and handle factory, on Ashe street, opposite the lumber mill and yards of E. E. Bain, and will arrange at once for the erection of buildings thereon.

Mr. Mendenhall was seen this morning by a Telegram man, and he tells us he will do a general lumber business and will pay particular attention to hardwood specialties. He has already received enquiries concerning a big lot of dimension stock for shipment to Germany. He has contracts now out with mills for pine lumber for the trade.

The exact size of the new plant or just how much machinery will be put in operation, has not been determined. It is Mr. Mendenhall's intention to equip himself for whatever the trade demands and to furnish good material and prompt service.

The Telegram wishes him great prosperity in his new enterprise.

Killed De Po' Man.

A horse hitched to a street carriage yesterday, had evidently had a good meal and was "feeling his oats," for he came dashing along South Elm street and turned on to the side walk near W. H. Matthews & Co's. with a part of the vehicle hanging to him. An old colored woman, in getting out of the way ran over a clothing dummy, knocking it down, when she exclaimed: "Lord a' massa, have I killed de po' man?"

SUCCESS OF THE SEASON.

The "Roney's Boys" Concert Receives the Highest Praise.

"Roney's Boys" concert is the success of the season. At Belvidere they had the house full. At Elgin, Friday night, standing room only could be secured. At Harvard, Saturday night, scores of people could not get into the house. At Beloit, at noon today, in the biggest church in that city, under the auspices of the Woman's Relief Corps, chairs were being sold in the aisles.—DeKalb Chronicle

The above is only a sample of what all the newspapers are saying about the "Roney's Boys" concert, which holds the boards at the academy of music Thursday night, the 8th inst. Part of the performers are mere children, but musicians of merit, who never fail to please and entertain grown people and children as well. The music rendered is of a popular class and is thoroughly enjoyed.

The Great Humorist.

The following is taken from the St Paul (Minn.) Pioneer Press:

Loyal, liberal, cosmopolitan Max O'Rell is the wittiest writer and the most fascinating speaker of France, with whom the American people are acquainted personally. "Her Royal Highness, Woman," is the latest lecture. Nearly one thousand people of cultured taste and exacting appreciation assembled in Park Congregational church last evening to hear the author of "Jonathan and His Continent" in his latest effort, and all were pampered with judicious flattery, amused by infectious humor and nourished with chaste sentiments and plain, sensible talk.

Max O'Rell like all Frenchmen on the platform, is polished in his style, and like every cosmopolitan he is natural; his gestures are graceful and reserved; his delivery is vivacious and modest. In his effort to provoke mirth he sometimes touches the finest chords of sentiment and emotion. His nonsense is often philosophy. He is no wit but a humorist, and uses his humor only as the thread on a gimlet to make the truth penetrate with less friction.

The most poetic and pathetic passages in the lecture were those devoted to eulogies of Jacqueline, the peasant girl, and the life of France, and her reception of bedraggled soldiers in the war of 1870. He thought the American girl the most beautiful, intellectual, cordial, unconventional and interesting in the world.

On Friday night of this week Max O'Rell will deliver the third in the Normal College Lecture Course. His subject is: "The Little Foibles of John Bull, Sandy and Pat." Admission 50 cents.

A Mother's Duty is to see to it that her children begin early in life to shampoo their heads regularly once a week. In each instance, after the hair is thoroughly dry, some mild, health-giving tonic should be applied to the scalp to aid nature in creating the best possible growth of uniformly colored, lustrous, healthy hair—the most important feature in the make-up of beautiful women and handsome men. For more than fifteen years, the

IS LIKE keeping YOUR MONEY IN A PASTEBOARD BOX INSTEAD OF A MODERN SAFE. A Modern Safe is a place of safety for money, so is the OLD PENN MUTUAL LIFE of Philadelphia, which guarantees to pay you a large interest on your money that you place with them for safe keeping, and gives you the best protection for the least money.

Provide for your loved ones after you are gone by taking a Life Insurance Policy in the Penn Mutual, which is payable immediately upon satisfactory proof of death.

We will take pleasure in explaining the plans to you
